Singapore, March 08, 2018 -"The past 12 months have been highly productive and I'm honoured to be leading such an experienced team," says Pranay, CTO Asia Focus Group. "We are not resting just yet, as there are much more exciting developments coming up."

CSM has been building several commercial use cases very succcesfully since 2018 with events with Huobi and industry partners like Latoken but 2019 is where they focus on mass adoption and take the world by storm. Last December, Consentium also hosted a media event at Zhuhai, China, to more than 200 attendees made up of high-net worth investors, blockchain enthusiasts and media personnel. At the event, Consentium announced the launch of the Consentium Ecosystem, which includes Exonium (a cryptocurrency exchange) and Cryptonium (a peer-to-peer exchange platform).

By establishing a commercial ecosystem around the Consentium Chat App, users will have many channels to purchase and spend the CSM token. With the idea of a synergised ecosystem, Consentium is positioned to push forth mass adoption of cryptocurrency, with lower barriers to entry and a seamless customer experience through the multiple interfaces.

"Since Consentium's beta roll-out, we have already on-boarded almost 100,000 users internationally. This is a tremendous vote of confidence in our commercial viability," says Jeremy Khoo, Head of Business, Consentium. "The products have been well received and are performing seamlessly for our users, also reflected in the strong demand for the token."

Consentium, the first multi-purpose messaging app that enables supergroup creations, multi-cryptocurrency storage and transfers and chat community monetization, is poised to enter the USD$48 billion global chat app market and overtake existing chat apps for cryptocurrency users.

In 2018, Consentium completed a successful Initial Coin Offering (ICO) process whereby the Consentium tokens were sold out, achieving its hardcap of USD$42 million. Consentium launched its beta in November 2018, after months of testing and feedback from its user base of 40,000. Consentium is now ready for an official worldwide release of the Application on the Google Play Store and Apple Appstore.
